

JONA HOAD DESIGN
Type A

Combining multiple switches, a charging point and reading light into one integrated panel, Jona Hoard Design's Type A series is both aesthetic and functional, and creates a touch-point in which hotels can communicate their brand identity. Completely customisable and bespoke, the tailored plates can also be used to house in-room controls or integrate technology, helping to create a seamless guestroom experience for the modern traveller.

HECTOR FINCH
Tanya

The debut product from its collaboration with Italian ceramics manufacturer Fos Ceramiche, and designed by MZDS Design Studio, the Tanya series from Hector Finch is crafted from fine porcelain and affords a luminosity hard to achieve in ceramic shades. The latest addition to its comprehensive range of pendant lights, Tanya's translucent white porcelain ware uses a dense body to achieve a strong shape and sharp definition.

ANOTHER COUNTRY
Orbit Sconce

A modern interpretation of an early-American candle form, Another Country's Orbit Sconce series features a reflective spun brass disc that rotates 320-degrees, acting as both a reflector and deflector of light. Created by design studio Workstead and produced in the USA, the sconce is the most elemental piece of the Orbit series, and emits a soft beam from a single point of light.

ASTRO
Edge Reader Mini

Inspired by the Edge Reader luminaire, Astro has introduced a fresh take on the original design with the addition of Edge Reader Mini. The more discreet and modest option provides bedside illumination, and has been reengineered with a recessed LED lens to allow for glare-free radiance. Available in a matte white or black finish, the Edge Reader Mini appears to float on the light it emits, combining a soft, ambient glow with practical functionality.
